2006 Many jobs without a four-year degree are growing and need workers. Explore 100 careers that don't require a bachelor's degree, assess which ones match your skills, and get the job you want quickly with this authoritative resource. In one time-saving volume, job seekers and students find everything they need to research careers; learn about pay, outlook, education, and skills needed for the 100 jobs; match their personal skills to the jobs; and take seven steps to land a good job in less time. This book provides--in alphabetical order--thorough, current, and interesting descriptions of 100 major jobs that you can learn without four years in college. Each description is about two-to-three pages long and written as an easy-to-read narrative. A newly updated special book-within-a-book section describes the seven steps that cut job search time in half and includes sample targeted resumes by professional resume writers. A new, easy-to-use assessment matches your personal skills with the characteristics of the occupations described in the book. This book is part of JIST's Top Careers series, which gives job seekers, students, and others a convenient, helpful combination of career information. All books in the series offer high-quality, current labor market information--a key consideration for anyone doing career research and planning.

2017-10-06 Kyla Hunt Addressing the needs of new adults--those ages 18-29--in the library is an important challenge. This book explains the needs and wants of new adults in the public library setting and identifies their preferences in physical space, programming, and technology. According to the Pew Research Center's 2015 Libraries at the Crossroads Report, 52 percent of people between the ages of 16 and 29 visited a bookmobile or library within the past year. Yet many public libraries' programming and outreach skip over this demographic, jumping from teen services to older adults. Library Programs and Services for New Adults provides a road map for including new adults into the family of the small public library and offers a variety of resources and programming ideas that librarians can use immediately. Author Kyla Hunt--a library technology and trends specialist--explains why the needs of new adults are typically overlooked at public libraries, defines who "new adults" are, and explains why serving their needs is key to the success of today's public libraries. Readers will come away with an in-depth understanding of the mindset and needs of patrons who are 18 to 29 years old and be able to cater to their preferences as they pertain to physical space, programming, technology, and marketing.

2012-04-03 Anne McKinney This title shows resumes and cover letters of people who wish to obtain jobs in the aviation and travel field or to exit from the industry into new careers. The title reveals techniques for finding aviation and travel industry jobs. Also provided are strategies for transferring skills and experience to other industries. The book contains more than 100 "real" resumes and cover letters tailored to aviation and travel backgrounds, and the purpose of the book is to give models or examples for people to use in creating their own resumes and cover letters tailored to the aviation and travel industry. Readers will find resumes of commercial pilots, ground support equipment operators, airport managers, quality control inspectors, aircraft loading managers, and many others. The book will be of enormous help to people seeking employment in the aviation and travel industry and to people who desire to transfer their aviation backgrounds into new occupational areas. This book reveals secrets and shortcuts to finding jobs in the aviation and travel industries. Also revealed are techniques for transferring from those fields. Resumes are shown of commercial pilots, airport managers, quality control inspectors, aircraft loading managers, ground support equipment operators, travel attendants, travel agents, and many other industry jobs. Some advice from the editor Anne McKinney: "Industries are often cyclical, and downturns do occur in most sectors. So it's important to know how to transfer skills to 'greener pastures' when employment opportunities in aviation and travel are scarce. Whether you seek to get 'in the front door' of the aviation and travel industry or are exiting 'through the back door' on your way to other types of employment, this book will be a valuable aid." Praise for other books in the Real-Resumes Series: "Distinguished by its highly readable samples." - Library Journal "These excellent new guides don't just provide the usual coverage on how to write a resume. They provide industry-specific examples, industry-specific tips and cautions, and industry-specific strategies based on real-world resumes. Since many technical types aren't writers, this comes as a special gift; select a winning format, plug in your background specs, and away you go. It's that easy--with Real-Resumes in hand."-- The Midwest Book Review Testimonials from people who have successfully used this book: "The resumes and cover letters in the Real-Resumes books are easy to personalize. I created my own door-opening resume using these samples." A Linthrop "I couldn't figure out how to reduce my resume to one page until I saw the great samples in the Real-Resumes book. Now my resume gets me in the door." J. Porquiro "When the aviation industry could no longer offer me the employment opportunities I was seeking, I had no clue about how to make a career change. I knew my resume was critical in introducing me, and the Real-Resumes samples solved my problem." S. Estabos "I wanted to become a travel attendant, but I didn't know how to show that my skills were transferable to the aviation industry. Thanks to Real-Resumes, I got in the door and landed my first job in the aviation industry." L. Snider
